

Please do not restrict what can be offered by the finest radio service on the planet - XM radio. It is a constant companion and source of information and security for us as we travel across the United States. The news, weather, and traffic reports are particularly helpful.

XM radio is clearly the wave of the future and offers programming that is simply unavailable in any other format or market. It makes no sense to restrict their offerings. In fact, I look forward to an expanding role for XM radio, much like FM radio replaced the AM spectrum in the middle of the last century.

Loren W. Gratz, Ph.D.